What Is A Resource Report?

A resource report combines all of the products and services you have or are currently using into one concise (no more than 15 pages) report. These products and services must be successful and therefore recommendable to others.

What makes this resource report profitable is that instead of sending potential customers directly to the relative sales page (e.g. <http://www.Niches-To-Riches.net>) you send them to the relative sales page with your affiliate link inside the URL (e.g. <http://www.Niches-To-Riches.net/?id=youraffiliateid>.)

Note, this is a basic example, you will learn how you can tidy up your affiliate link later on in this report.

So, once you have sent your potential customer to the relative sales page with your unique affiliate ID you will have a chance of gaining an affiliate sale, whether or not the customer buys is a different matter. If the customer chooses to click the cross; admittedly you have lost a potential affiliate sale, however the beauty with affiliate marketing is that you have lost nothing at the end of the day, all you have done is sign up to an affiliate program and promote your affiliate link; you have not really invested much. But when the time comes and you do make a sale that's when you can seriously start to see why affiliate marketing is so profitable.

Now, to make your resource report profitable you will need to step away from the basic trend of just simply shoving a few of your affiliate links into a one page PDF document. That method may secure you a couple of sales, nothing really worth shouting about. You need to invest time into making your report profitable and this is what sets you apart from the lazy marketers in the business.
